

Webinar: Snowmobile Safety for Forestry Contractors

Snowmobile Safety for Forestry Contractors

It's sled season again! Are you and your crews prepared? Join us for a lively session on snowmobile safety for forestry contractors to learn about pre-trip planning for remote field locations, the right equipment for your work area, safe handling skills (including getting unstuck), safe transport of sleds and much more.

This session is a great introduction for field workers new to snowmobile use and an ideal refresher for staff. There will be lots of discussion and opportunities to share your experiences and knowledge with other forestry workers.

Rob Hanna and Saarilynn Hamilton (BC Snowmobile Federation Certified instructors) will host this webinar. Instructor biographies are available at <http://bcsnowmobile.com/about.html>

What is the webinar duration? 2 to 3 hours

How are the sessions offered? The WebEx program is an easy web-based download to your computer. You will need a computer equipped with speakers and an internet connection. If you don't have speakers, you can call a special phone number to access the audio component of the webinar. Note: Please allow 5-10 minutes prior to the session to download the program.

How much does the webinar cost? These webinars are free for BC forestry companies and their employees. Multiple employees from one company are most welcome!

How do I register? Please register with training@bcforestsafe.org or call 1-877-741-1060. Confirmation details on your invitation to the webinar will be e-mailed prior to the session start.
