

Day of Mourning – April 28

The 'Day of Mourning' recognizes those who have lost their lives, were injured or made ill as a result of work-related incidents or occupational diseases and focusses on renewing our commitment to preventing further workplace tragedies.

HISTORY:

The Canadian Labour Congress initiated a National Day of Mourning ceremony on April 28, 1984 and ceremonies have been held across the country ever since. This day is now recognized around the world in more than 100 countries.

April 28th was chosen as it was this date, in 1914, the first Workers' Compensation Act was brought into effect in Canada.

NATIONAL STATISTICS:

According to the Association of Workers' Compensation Boards of Canada:

- Every year, approximately 1,000 workers die in Canada.
- Every day, nearly three workers die.
- Every year, workers suffer from 250,000 work-related injuries/diseases.
- Every day, workers suffer from approximately 700 work-related injuries/diseases.
- A compensable injury occurs every seven seconds of each working day.

BC STATISTICS:

- In 2022, there were 181 workers in BC who lost their lives to workplace injury or disease. There were 74 fatalities due to traumatic injury and 107 fatalities due to occupational disease.

BC FORESTRY INDUSTRY STATISTICS:

- In 2022, there were five work-related deaths in forestry.

Forestry Operations

November 23, 2022: A floatplane went down shortly after takeoff and sunk in Strachan Bay, just north of Port Hardy. The pilot and two forestry workers on board were fatally injured.

Staying Safe

We all play a role in keeping ourselves and our co-workers safe.

Take a moment to recognize how you can impact workplace safety:

- Report unsafe acts or conditions - don't ignore it or think someone else will do it.
- Be prepared for work – mentally and physically. Recognize when you are fatigued, rushed, distracted or complacent and may be making unsafe decisions. Stop and re-assess what you are about to do.
- Take an active role in your crew members well-being. If a co-worker is distracted or otherwise unfit for work, talk to them or your supervisor. An injured worker impacts us all.
- Ask for assistance – talk to your supervisor if you are unsure of how to proceed or need additional support.

A black and white photograph of a forest path. The path is narrow and appears to be made of dirt or small stones, winding through a dense forest. Large, gnarled tree roots are prominent in the foreground, extending from the left side of the frame towards the path. The trees are tall and thin, with some bare branches visible, suggesting a late autumn or winter setting. The lighting is soft, creating a somber and reflective atmosphere.

I Chose to Look The Other Way

By Don Merrell

I could have saved a life that day,
But I chose to look the other way.
It wasn't that I didn't care,
I had the time, and I was there.

But I didn't want to seem a fool,
Or argue over a safety rule.
I knew he'd done the job before,
If I spoke up, he might get sore.

The chances didn't seem that bad,
I'd done the same, He knew I had.
So I shook my head and walked on by,
He knew the risks as well as I.

He took the chance, I closed an eye,
And with that act, I let him die.
I could have saved a life that day,
But I chose to look the other way.

Now every time I see his wife,
I'll know, I should have saved his life.
That guilt is something I must bear,
But it isn't something you need share.

If you see a risk that others take,
That puts their health or life at stake.
The question asked, or thing you say,
Could help them live another day.

If you see a risk and walk away,
Then hope you never have to say,
I could have saved a life that day,
But I chose, to look the other way.
